Plenty of tourist interactive programs are also organized. A visitor gets the opportunity to catch a ringside view of all tribes and communities, their culture, and way of life in one place. One could vividly experience 'Assam through Rongali'.

MAIN ATTRACTIONS - WHY VISIT ASSAM DURING RONGALI:

BIHU: Bihu dance is meant to celebrate and emulate the seasonal spirit, celebrating love and passion. Visitors shall experience various forms of Bihu dance, Husori and the spirit of Bihu in Rongali. Competition of the best bihu troupes will be organised.

Bihu Husori: Husori is performed in the courtyards of village by enthusiastic and cheerful young girls and boys during Bihu festival. The main attraction of 'Rongali' is the Bihu Husori competition. Keeping the dignity of the precious Assamese culture, every year Bihu Husori exhibition is organized. It is an attempt to attract tourists to come and watch Bihu during April-May month of the year and tourists will be able to enjoy the Husori.

Jeng Bihu: Other than this one can witness the unique form of Jeng Bihu here. This form of Bihu is performed by women only. The name "jeng" comes from the fact that in earlier days women in the villages used to surround the place of their performance with sticks dug into the ground called jeng in Assamese. The women sing and dance in their ecstatic feeling of joy.

ANKIYA BHAONA: The Greatest Assamese of all time, Mahapurush Sankaradeva was responsible for creating the cultural fabric of Assam. Ankiya Bhaona, the creation of Sankaradeva, is a one act play depicting the story of Rama and Krishna. Ankiya Bhaona played a revolutionary role in the cultural renaissance of medieval Assam through its impact on each dimension of Assamese Society including Language, Literature, and Culture.

Various Ankiya Nats (plays) such as Koliya-Daman, Rukmini Haran, Parijatharan, Ramvijaya etc will be presented during Rongali. To facilitate tourists to see the culture of Assam, for the first time a competition on Ankiya Bhaona will be organized during Rongali where best of the drama performers across Assam will participate in the three-day competition.

A TRIP TO ASSAM DURING RONGALI SPECIAL TOURIST PACKAGE:

The following Rongali package will give an experience of a lifetime. Tourists can avail the following package which can be booked directly through tour operators.

Package 1: Daylong trip to Pobitora, Mayong, and Dikchak tribal village:

Pobitora Wildlife Sanctuary:

Pobitora Wildlife Sanctuary, nestled in the grasslands of Morigaon, Assam is the dwelling place of the Indian One-Horned Rhinoceroses with its highest population in the whole world. It is landlocked by Assamese villages from every side of it with the traditional Assamese culture. It is often referred to as a showroom ideal for visitors. Besides rhinoceros, the other animals are leopard, wild boar, Barking deer, wild buffalo, etc. Assam's Pobitora Wildlife Sanctuary is also home to more than 2000 migratory birds and various reptiles. It is also an Important Bird Area. Nearby Pobitora the kingdom of black magic Mayong is situated that provides unique tourism propositions.

Mayong:

Mayong is a small village in the Morigaon district of Assam, India where silence and mystery lurk all around. Due to its mysterious past of black magic, Mayong is a fantastic tourist spot. If you're a curious traveller, adventure lover, history buff, or are simply fascinated by the occult, Mayong can be an interesting place to check out. The place is a lovely getaway for the tourists as it is a blend of almost everything ranging from secretive magical powers to being a scenic beauty. The place has several archaeological relics too.

Mayong, a place unhindered by science or pragmatic explanations, a place that remains a secret keeper of magic, myth, and lore. This small sleepy town, so immersed in the occult, definitely deserves your time.

Package can be daylong programme, Tourists can also stay at Pobitora, as excellent accommodation facility is available.

Package 2: Visit to Silk Village, Sualkuchi & Visit to Dadara to experience Hargila Army:

Hargila Army at Dadara:

Assam's renowned environmentalist Purnima Devi Barman, winner of the prestigious Whitley Awards, also known as the Green Oscars has been working with Dadara village of Kamrup district to save the greater adjutant stork, locally known as Hargila in Assam. One can experience exotic food, culture, and rare conservation.

Because of the thoughtful, empathetic, and creative inclusion of people as the stewards of the Greater Adjutant has resulted in a steady increase in the birds and nesting colonies, where the village of Dadara have now become the largest colony of one of the world's most endangered birds.

The preservation project includes a group of local women creating a local economy along with protecting the Hargila. The Hargila Army members have formed self-help groups who are now entrepreneurs in their own right. With looms provided through the Greater Adjutant Conservation Program led by Dr. Barman, they have been weaving gorgeous handloom attires with unique conservation motifs, especially of the Agila stork. guardians. As a part of the initiative consistent effort was made to reach out to the whole community, environment education modules were merged with tradition and rituals and thus creating a new education module in this conservation scenario to educate people and lead to a people's movement.

A DAY IN DADARA

Dadara-Pasariya-Singimari near Sualkuchi, about 35 kilometers from Guwahati, is a delightful destination. Not only are these villages home to two-thirds of the world's population of Greater Adjutant Storks – known as Hargila in Assamese –they also boast of the acclaimed 'Hargila Army', a troop of 300 women conservationists raised by Smt. Purnima Devi Barman.

Popularly known as Hargila Baideo or Stork Sister, Purnima Devi Barman, the winner of the Green Oscar or the prestigious Whitley Award for her efforts to conserve the Greater Adjutant Stork, has inspired what is a once-in-a-lifetime experience for tourists. The sight and sound of her army singing hymns to the clickety-clack of looms weaving Hargila motifs – a spirited effort to preserve an avian species on the verge of endangerment – can stay in the memory for a long, long time.

Sualkuchi:

Sualkuchi is a small village that displays the weaving culture and traditions of Assam. Eri, Mua, Pat, the weavers of Sualkuchi can weave it all. It's a magical experience to see the process. The weaving village is, however, best known for its skills and craftsmanship for producing one of the best kinds of silk in the state. Tourists shall experience the skills and craftsmanship of the weavers who produce one of the best kinds of silk in the state.

This weavers' village amidst the lush greenery and the mountains is famous not only for the silk products but also for the scenic beauty of the land. It is steadily growing up as an important tourist spot in Assam. Sualkuchi Village is quite rich in flora and fauna, and it retains the traditional charm with bamboo houses and the overall rustic nature of the villages.

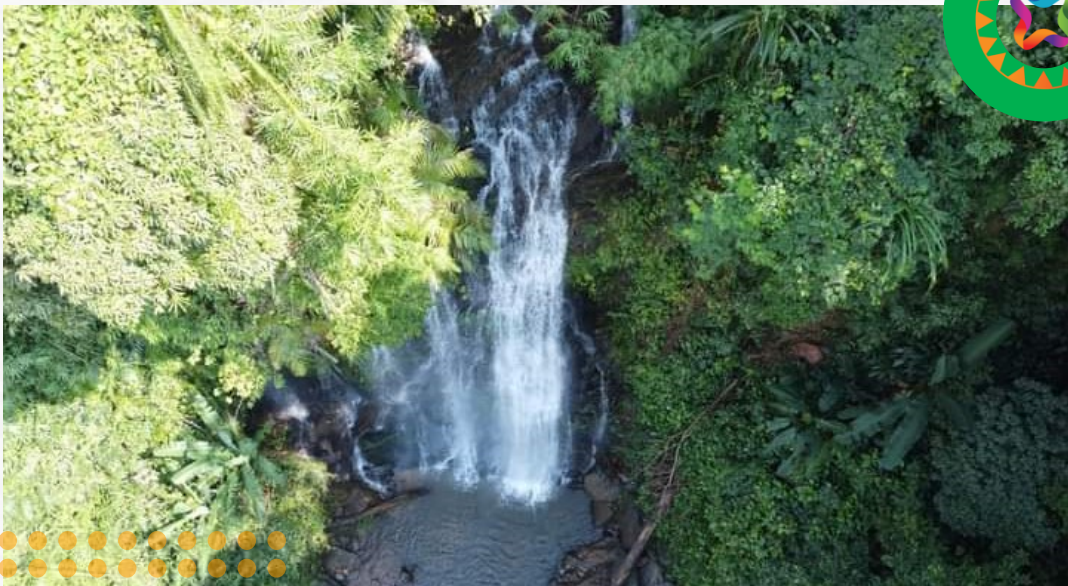

Package 3: Visit to Exotic Chandubi lake to experience trekking tribal lifestyle; Visit to Guwahati riverfront on ropeway and river cruise.

Chandubi:

Chandubi Lake is a natural sightseeing and picnic spot. The lake's chief feature is the natural lagoon that has been formed during the devastating 1897 earthquake. There are many beliefs regarding the story of Chand Sadagar creating the lake too.

The lake is bestowed with natural beauty. The lake is a biodiversity hotspot, an island around the lake that offers local lifestyle, food, camping, and rowing in the lake is a wonderful experience.

The presence of such provisions makes Chandubi Lake an ideal tourist destination.

A Day in CHANDUBI

The confluence of rivers and plains enrich the diverse history- both culinary and otherwise, of the communities from the East, West, and North of Assam. From the capital of Guwahati, an ancient city on the banks of the Brahmaputra, to Majuli Island, teeming with a unique riverine culture, to Sibsagar, an important oil and trading centre- dissimilar elements make Assamese cuisine unique. The cornerstones of the culinary traditions are the large varieties of rice found all over the state, which are subsequently roasted, ground, flattened, and then cooked in bamboo hollows, or made into pithas (soaked and ground glutinous rice sweets) on special occasions. There is hardly any ethnic community which does not consume fish, and pisciculture is commonly practiced by many rural communities. Meats such as pork, and duck are relished too, and the preparations for these are characterized with ginger, curry leaves and lemon juice, delivering hot, pungent and aromatic flavours.

Highlights in Chandubi

- Boat ride
- Walk through in the ethnic village for a village life experience (handweaving/farming)
- Ethnic food fest
- Visit to Soloka dare waterfall

The ethnic fest will be presented by CHANDUBI JUNGLE CAMP.
